

NEWS FROM Long Island Business NEWS

Where Business Gets Down to Business

Temporary Offices Offered In Melville

*Published: November 1, 2012
By David Winzelberg*

Companies impacted by the effects of Hurricane Sandy can lease short-term disaster recovery space in Melville.

Totus Business Center at 105 Maxess Road is offering furnished spaces equipped for telecommunications, that can accommodate from 10 to 60 employees and can be occupied within 24 hours.

The offices, pre-wired for telephone and Internet with fiber optics, also include use of a receptionist and call forwarding. Leases are available on a daily, weekly or monthly basis.

“At this time of turmoil and disruption, we can have a business up and running within 24 hours with just one phone call,” said Ted Weiss, president of Totus and Melville-based T. Weiss Realty. “Our power is on and with all of the fundamental components in place, a business owner can immediately begin to concentrate on conducting business.”